PREFACE.

THE parishes included in the Union of Monkstown being so closely-connected with the adjacent City of Dublin, the earliest register of the Union has been selected for publication by the Parish Register Society as a supplementary volume for the year 1908.

The church of Carrickbrennan, the early name of the district now known as Monkstown, was dedicated to S. Mochonna, Bishop of Inis-Patrick, or Holmpatrick, near Skerries, co. Dublin, in the eighth century, and in the twelfth century was a possession of S. Mary's Abbey, Dublin. Early in the thirteenth century ownership passed to the cathedral church of S. Patrick, and in 1240, by exchange for other property, "the chapel of Carrickbrennan" became a possession of the Priory of Holy Trinity and was attached to the church of Clonkeen, or Kill o' the Grange. In 1577 the advowson of the church of "S. Mochonna of the Grange of Carrickbrennan alias Monkton," was owned by the representatives of Sir John Travers, late of Mounton, Knight, and in 1630 the tithes were still in possession of the same family.

The old church, the ruins of which are still to be seen in the ancient graveyard of Carrickbrennan, was reported in 1630 and again in 1654 to be in good repair, though "wanting in decency and some necessaries." During the Commonwealth the building fell into ruin, and in 1668, through the munificence of Mr. Edward Corker, sometime M.P. for Ratoath, and a son-in-law of Sir Daniel Bellingham, the church was entirely rebuilt. In 1751 the edifice was enlarged by the addition of an aisle. Towards the close of the eighteenth century, the Protestant population of the Union having largely increased, and the church being in a ruinous condition, a petition was presented in 1785 to the Privy Council praying for permission to change the site. The petition was granted, and on the 1st September, 1785, the foundation stone of a new building on the site of the present Monkstown parish church, was laid by the Duke of Rutland, then Lord Lieutenant, and in 1789 was consecrated by the Archbishop of Dublin as the church of S. Mary. In 1832 rebuilding was again found necessary, when the present edifice, an extraordinary architectural phenomenon, was erected.

In 1670, when the Register opens, the Union included the parishes of Monkstown, Kill o' the Grange, Dalkey, Killiney, Tully, Stillorgan and Kilmacud, in fact, the entire district bounded by the suburban parish of Donnybrook on the north, the parish of Bray on the south, on the east by the sea, and the Dublin Mountains on the west. As population increased, many of the included parishes dropped away, the severance of Stillorgan and Kilmacud taking place in 1764; nevertheless, up to the year 1800, when the present volume closes, Monkstown was still the principal centre of registration for the district, Appended is a list of the townlands mentioned in the Register, arranged according to the parishes in which they are now included. In the cases where the name which occurs in the Register has since undergone a change, the more recent name is also given, whenever it has been possible to identify it; the older form being

The present volume is a transcript of the first Register of the Union, a book of seventy-four folios, measuring 14I inches by 9J inches, and bound in white vellum. The first four folios are missing, and were apparently not forthcoming in the year 1817, when, as appears from a note inside the cover, in the handwriting of Sir William Betham, Ulster King of Arms, and Churchwarden of the parish, the Register was rebound. A few of the pages are mutilated, and there are some serious gaps in registration, a note on page 139 stating that the register of marriages between the years 1708 and 1730 was lost. The entries, with exceptions noted, cover the following periods :—Baptisms, 16 November 1679 to 15 October 1783 ; Burials, 11 August 1676 to 14 August 1783 ; Marriages, 20 January 1669 to 16 August 1786. From this date until the year 1804 no parish registers for Monkstown are forthcoming ; this interval has been supplied by printing as Appendix " A " a transcript of the yearly returns furnished by the parish at the annual visitations of the Bishop of the Diocese. These so-called " Parochial Returns," originally filed with the Archbishop's Registrar, are now deposited in the Public Record Office at Dublin.

Of the residents in the Union, and names found in the Register which had a wider notoriety than the boundaries of the parish, may be noted :—Robert, Earl of Kildare ; Charles, Viscount Ranelagh ; the Lady Theudorah ; Lady Mary Shears ; Lord Chief Baron Willes ; Mr. Justice Robert Marshall, the co-executor with Bishop Berkeley of Swift's " Vanessa " ; General John Adlercron ; Colonel Henry Loftus, of " Baratariana " fame ; Sir Oliver Crofton, Bart. ; Sir George Ribton, Bart. ; Isaac Espinasse, of a noble French family; Captain Luke Mercer, the well-known revenue officer; Edward Murphy, Lord Charlemont's tutor; William Roseingrave, of a family renowned for their musical talent; Edward Nicholson, collector of excise for City of Dublin.

Appendices " B " and " C " contain transcripts of the Hearth Money Rolls of the parishes comprised in the Union for the years 1664 and 1667, and Appendix " D " a list of the families resident in the Union in 1766, transcribed from the original documents preserved in the Public Record Office at Dublin.

The Editor desires to express his gratitude to Mr. Francis Elrington Ball, the author of the History of County Dublin, for his very great kindness in allowing full use to be made of his most valuable History and published monographs, as also for his copious manuscript notes on the Union of Monkstown. To the Rev. Canon John C. Dowse, Rector of Monkstown, the thanks of the Society are also due for affording every facility for the transcription of the Register and examination of the other records of the parish.

----- O -----

The importance of Parish Registers to the numerous body of genealogical workers is very great, and has been widely recognised in England in the publication of many Registers, and the formation of a Parish Register Society, as well as kindred local Societies.

In Ireland, by an Act of 1875, the Parish Registers of the late Established Church were placed under the control of the Master of the Rolls. But the preservation of certain interests by the Act, and the introduction of further conditions by an Act of the following year, prevented to a large extent the fulfilment of the intended concentration of the Parish Registers of the former Established Church in the Public Record Office of Ireland.

The purpose of the present Society, approved by the Master of the Rolls in Ireland, is to supply the genealogist and local and family historian with printed copies of the more important and older surviving Registers, beginning with those of Dublin, more especially those not deposited in the Record Office,

The Registers of the City of Dublin, besides containing the descent of the many old city families, are of great importance to all investigating the history of scattered branches of English families, and the origins of American and Colonial settlers. During the unsettled times of the 17th century numerous cadets of old English houses came to Ireland and many of these resided, at least temporarily, in Dublin.

The works printed by the Society are issued to subscribers only. They are printed on hand-made paper and the issue is strictly limited.

As the existence of the Society is dependent on the support accorded to it by the public, it is hoped that members will try and induce those of their friends who are interested in genealogical studies to join the Society.

Members' Subscription is One Guinea yearly.
